And What Have You

By BOB CRAIG

Unless an extension of time is granted, Hamlin and a whole lot of other cities in Texas will soon be faced with an expensive problem. Barring an extension of time the City of Hamlin will be forced to stop burning garbage after July 1 and come up with some form of sanitary landfill.

This new regulation comes from the Texas Air Control Board.

The West Central Texas Council of Governments, of which Hamlin is a member, has named a Solid Waste Disposal committee to look into new regulations and to help the cities solve this new problem.

According to the regulation, open burning of waste is prohibited in cities of more than 5,000 population and some cities under the 5,000 figure. Hamlin is one of these cities under 5,000 that will be affected by the July 1 deadline because it is inside a Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (Jones and Taylor Counties).

All cities will come under the air pollution act within three years.

According to the WTCOG only three of its 40 member cities, Coleman, Brownwood and Sweetwater, now employ a landfill system.

Mayor Hollis Madden said the other day that he is hoping that we will be granted an extension of time to solve this new problem. This new method of disposing of solid wastes is an expensive one for cities.

Mayor Madden said that something might be worked out with the county on this problem since a considerable amount of trash dumped at the city grounds comes from outside the city limits.

According to Bill Moore of the air control board, a sanitary landfill is one which is covered with six inches of dirt every day and two feet of dirt when it is completed.

As we understand the system from stories we have read in other papers over the state the pits are about eight feet deep and when filled with trash, are covered with the dirt excavated when digging them. After about three years the pit can be used again as the waste will decompose and deteriorate in that length of time.

The two biggest problems that will face the city in this will be the expense of a bulldozer to cover the pit each day and getting the public to dump their trash in the pit so that the city does not have to move their trash into the pit.

As we understand the intent of the board it will push the cities hard on this matter to set an example for industry in its drive to control air pollution.

While we admit that air pollution is bad anywhere we have a hard time getting overly excited about it in sparsely settled West Texas. But we expect that when it is all said and done we will comply with the regulations.

This item came to us too late to be included in this space last week. We feel, however late, that our readers would be interested in the fact that Dolly, a horse owned by Bryant Conner, is dead. She will be missed because she pulled the two-wheel cart and the Conner granddaughters, Tuvonna and Tamara Newland, for many years in Hamlin parades.

According to a story from the Texas Highway Department, vehicle registration information is being computerized. As an outgrowth of this, next year motorists will be provided in advance with a pre-prepared form containing all of the registration information. This should be a great help to both the clerks and the public when it is time to register cars each year. This will be especially true in the large cities where long lines form.

This also will end out of county registrations which have been a practice of many to avoid county or city taxes.

Austin Man Dies In Truck Wreck Tuesday

An early morning wreck 6.3 miles south of Aspermont fatally injured a young Austin truck driver Tuesday morning at 6.

Jimmy Louis Alexander, 20, driver for Childress and Wyllie Co., was crushed when the tractor of the empty cattle truck overturned on him.

Alexander was driving south on U. S. 83 when he apparently dozed, according to Highway Patrolman Bobby Stone of Aspermont. The truck left the road and hit a concrete pillar.

Stone said the empty truck trailer came loose and turned sideways. A passerby reported the wreck to the sheriff's department soon after.

This was Stonewall County's first traffic fatality of the year.

Alexander's residence is listed as 3508 Clarkson, Apt. B, in Austin. He was born May 13, 1948.

The body was taken to Littlepage Funeral Home in Aspermont. Funeral will be held in Smithville under the direction of Marrs Funeral Home.

First Baptist Church To Show Graham Crusade Film

A motion picture featuring The Graham Tokyo Crusade will be presented Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church. "I'm Talking About A Jesus Who Belongs To Asia" is the latest film production from World Wide Pictures. The documentary cameras have followed Billy Graham and his team to elusive, vibrant Japan.

The Crusade permeated the world's largest city for ten eventful days. In the religious sense, Japan is primarily a Buddhist country, and Christians are an extreme minority. They make up less than one-half of one percent of the total population. The overwhelming response to the Tokyo Crusade serves to compound the miracle, as total attendance went well over the 200,000 mark. Prior to Mr. Graham's visit, there were only 16,000 Christians in all of Tokyo.

The film features a 1,500 voice choir, under the direction of Cliff Barrows, singing familiar hymns in Japanese; and a personal word of witness from English Pop star Cliff Richard and the American League's Bobby Richardson, as well as an address by the famous evangelist. Everyone is invited.

Pipers Stay In Second Place With Merkel Win

The Pied Pipers swamped Merkel 71-49 here Tuesday night to take sole possession of second place in the district 7-AA race. But with Coleman in first place with a two game lead the Pipers find that magic first place spot a long way off with only three games left on the schedule.

Coleman ran over Anson Tuesday, 89-66, to stay out in front.

Charlie Shira scored 25 points to lead the Pipers to a 25 point first half lead over the Badgers and Merkel failed to close the gap.

Rhea Sue Vaughan poured in 27 points in a losing effort as the Piperettes dropped a 53-52 decision to Merkel.

In the B game Hamlin defeated Merkel, 68-57.

Shira was high pointer in the Piper contest with Ballinger last Friday with 25 points as the Pipers won, 75-61. Robert Bolden tallied 16 and George Cooper added 14 more. The Hamlin B team won 43-39.

Friday night the three local teams will journey to Anson to meet the Tigers and will host Winters here Tuesday night. Winters is undefeated in the race for the girls' title.

The eighth grade girls won 28-12 over Lueders-Avoca and 21-13 over Haskell. This was the first loss for Haskell and put the two teams tied for first place with 4-1 district records.

The seventh grade boys kept their season record clean at 8-0 with a 25-21 win over Lueders-Avoca and a 31-20 win over Haskell.

The three teams will travel to Rotan tonight (Thursday) with the first game starting at 5:30.

My goodness, when I got up this morning it was a low 26 degrees and frosty, but is a little warmer now.

Some people have all the luck. Mr. and Mrs. Mutt Early left early this morning to spend several days in sunny California visiting his brother, George, and two of Lucille's brothers. We hope they have a safe trip.

Noticed this morning the Jim Lennings made a safe trip to El Paso and back where they visited Capt. and Mrs. Jimmy Lennings.

The J. R. Portwood family of Odessa visited in the Chumley Brown home over the weekend.

Guests in Mrs. John Edwards' home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Woods of Odessa.

Our last report from Mr. George Parsons was that he is improving and will be able to leave the hospital soon. He has been in the hospital in Odessa near his son, Lawrence.

Mrs. W. E. Stevenson, Mrs. Alfred Douglass' mother spent several days in Hamlin Hospital undergoing tests and x-rays.

Mr. Clyde Harris, brother of E. P. Harris, was still in intensive care in a Dallas Hospital after major surgery over a week ago.

John and Melissa Hardwick made a fast business trip to Dallas on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kiser visited in Abilene over the weekend with Joe Spikes.

Mrs. Milton Montgomery and Sonny are spending some time with Jessie Jewel in Mertzon.

The Sylvester - McCaulley water board was a little disappointed the other night at the annual meeting due to the very small number of people attending. They work to keep every thing running

Tips On Avoiding Tax Audit Given By HD Agent

Odds of having your income tax returns questioned and audited are less when you are neat, exclude large entertainment deductions and didn't bunch deductions, says Jones smoothly and the users aren't interested enough to attend the meetings. The Corporation is in good shape. It is still in the black and I call that good. Next year when you get your notice of the board meeting make an effort to attend. You might learn something of interest.

County Home Demonstration Agent Mrs. Mary Y. Newberry.

Mrs. Newberry stresses the importance of neatness on tax returns. This gives the agent confidence in the return's accuracy, she says.

Another cause for questioning is an occasional large item of income or deduction such as a major real estate deal, a sizeable sale of securities, use of income averaging and other extraordinary items.

Bunching miscellaneous deductions and value of donated property may arouse curiosity with examining agents, the Home Demonstration Agent points out.

She also says that casualty loss claims can make returns liable to audit, especially if the person fails to itemize and explain the loss.

Heavy travel and entertainment deductions remain a pitfall, says Mrs. Newberry, and the mixed business-pleasure trips get special attention. To avoid trouble, use form 2106 to cover all travel entertainment items, she advises.

Be sure to back up all deductions with adequate records and receipts, Mrs. Newberry reminds.

News deadline on advance stories is noon Tuesday.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
I am engaged to a young man who is serving his time in the army. He has another year before he gets out. We do not know whether he will serve the rest of his time in the states or whether he will be sent somewhere else. This year has been very nice because he has not been so far away and could get home every few weeks for a short visit. We also wrote to each other several times each week.

Now this is what we are trying to decide. Whether to get married during the spring holidays or to wait until I graduate in June. He doesn't make much money as he is not an officer and it will be much easier for me to get a job as a teacher after I graduate. He has a good job waiting for him after he gets out of the army and my parents will be very disappointed if I fail to get my diploma. We agreed to write to you and ask what you think about this. We hate to think of him being sent somewhere and not being able to see each other for several months.

Bess - Va.

Answer:
An education which carries a diploma is a very good thing to possess in this era. One never knows what will happen to a husband after marriage and many a woman who has been accustomed to luxuries has been left with a family of small children to support when her husband has been killed or crippled in an accident. As it is so much easier to find well paid work where one has a degree it is very important. I think, for you to wait those few months before you get married. You have waited one year why not last out another few months?

One other thing: If your husband is sent to a far country and you follow him, just bear in mind that a private's pay is very little.

Louisa.

TV COMMENTARY

TWO PROGRAMS which should serve as a guide to producers in the television industry for the future were Voyage to the Enchanted Isles and The Lions Are Free.

PRINCE PHILIP handled the commentary on the photographic visit to Galapagos—where man has not yet spoiled the natural scheme of nature and where wild creatures therefore have little fear of him.

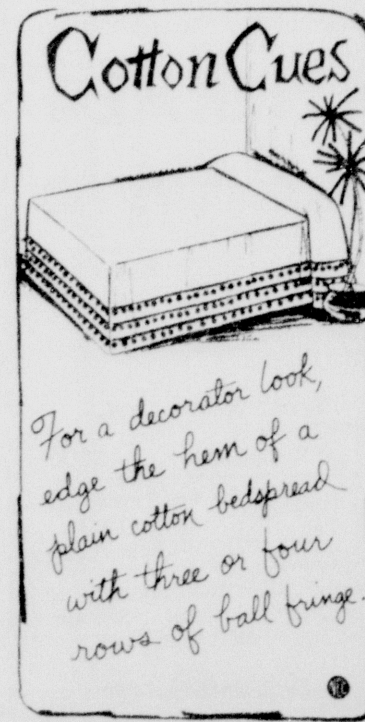

THE PROGRAM was of significance because the island is one of the few proving grounds of Darwin's theory of evolution—for example containing both sea and land iguanas.

THE LIONS ARE FREE was a wonderful return to the lives of the lions set free two years ago in Africa—the same lions which were the stars of the book and movie Born Free.

IT WAS ENTHRALLING to see how the lions remembered and welcomed back a former master (the leading actor of the film) and to watch seven lions strolling about Africa with their two human friends.

THESE TWO PROGRAMS, fit for all the family and telling a story of nature and affection and probing into man's relationship with his surroundings, will certainly be repeated often in the coming years—by popular demand.

AUSTIN, — Legislative committee appointments have cleared the way for lawmakers to get down to the real business of the 61st Texas session.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced 27 senate committees which assured increased power for liberals, urban areas — and the presiding officer.

Speaker Gus Mutscher followed up two days later with a sweeping reshuffling of all major House panels, leaving only three chairmen in their old places of authority.

Barnes picked veteran Senators Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo and William T. (Bill) Moore of Bryan to head up the "Big Two" senate committees — finance and state affairs. Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris, however, remains as finance vice-chairman and head of the working sub-committee which actually conducts hearings on the budget.

El Paso Sen. Joe Christie, prospective sponsor of a constitutional amendment to legalize sale of liquor by the drink, heads the constitutional committee. Aikin is chairman of the education panel which probably will handle important school legislation.

Sen. Charles Herring of Austin heads the transportation committee; Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells, water and conservation; and Sen. J. P. Word of Meridian, and Sen. All 45 chairmanships in the House went to veterans of two or more terms of service.

For the fifth time, Rep. W. S. (Bill) Healy of Paducah will be chairman of the budget — writing, appropriations committee, and Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas will chair revenue and taxation which originates tax measures. Only other chairman retained by Mutscher was Rep. John E. Blaine of El Paso, liquor regulations.

Rep. Rayford Price of Palestine, who came to the legislature with Mutscher in 1961, has been designated chairman of the busy House state affairs panel. Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria, who headed state affairs last session, is in charge of the rules committee which controls the flow of legislation to the House calendar. Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth directs the House administration committee with offices close to the speaker and his top staff assistants.

BILLS PASSED — Even while awaiting committee assignments during the third week of the session, legislators boomed through two bills of a semi-emergency nature.

First passed was a $905,815 appropriation measure to establish a welfare cut (in aid to dependent children), to assist growing junior colleges and to help finance legislative and government office operations this year. A fund transfer of $35,000 headed off a $28 cut in aid to needy families. Governor's office got $130,000 for new personnel, equipment, travel and postage. Colleges got $335,815, the senate $325,000 and House $115,000.

Second bill urged by Gov. Preston Smith increased retirement benefits of some 6,500 retired state employees an average of 10 per cent. Minimum benefit would be raised from about $30 to $50 a month. A retirement boost for elected officials will be the subject of a separate bill.

SENATE REFORMS RULES — Senate lost no time in adopting rulebook reforms designed to curb free-wheeling conference committees and to relax its own secret-vote provisions.

They voted 25-6 for new joint rules. Most dramatic change would limit conference committees named to adjust differences between House and Senate bills to doing just that — rather than writing totally new legislation behind closed doors. The House has yet to act.

Senate later approved 30-1 revisions of its own operating procedures which for the first time direct open committee hearings on appointments by the governor (unless a majority of the nominations committee votes for executive session).

Senators also were authorized to announce how they voted on confirmation of appointments.

LEGISLATION RAINS IN — Bulk of legislation proposed by Governor Smith — and a lot he didn't ask for — in his first message to the 1969 Legislature already has rained into hoppers of both houses.

Constitutional amendment proposals would lower the voting age to 18, shore up women's legal rights and authorize horse track betting on a local option basis in Bexar and Harris Counties.

Among other bills introduced in the House and Senate are: A proposal by Sen. Criss Cole of Houston to make air and water pollution a misdemeanor offense — for corporations as well as individuals.

A Texas Meat Inspection Law, sponsored by Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg. (Without a state act, the federal government will take over meat inspection in Texas).

Rep. Dick Cory of Victoria wants to abolish common-law marriage and permit divorce because of unsolvable discord between husband and wife.

Liberals will try again for a minimum wage with a bill sponsored by Reps. Raul Longoria and Lauro Cruz setting a state minimum of $1.10 per hour.

Senator Bates also has a bill prohibiting private clubs — including country clubs — in "dry" areas (based on his premise that if an area votes to be dry, it ought to be completely dry).

Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio wants to extend until 2 a. m. every day the time in which alcoholic beverages may be sold. (Such a bill passed in 1967 but was vetoed by Gov. John Connally).

Affirmative action is expected on the industry-labor compromise bill to increase the maximum weekly payments under the Workmen's Compensation system to $49.

Reps. Hilary Doran of Del Rio and Guy Floyd of San Antonio will run with a bill exempting Texas from Daylight Saving Time.

Representative Cory wants a code of ethics for teachers and a state commission to enforce it.

A proposal by Rep. Caldwell of Alvin to require cities and counties to designate the right of way at intersections and put up traffic signs within two years to help establish blame in accidents.

Representative Caldwell also would prohibit games, puzzles and other advertising techniques such as those used by gas stations.

There has been a shortage in only one field. Nobody is rushing forward with tax ideas. Although that may soon be the subject of a new address to the Legislature by Governor Smith.

BUDGET WORK BEGINS — A record $5.6 billion in spending proposals of the Legislative Budget Board has been placed before the House appropriations and Senate finance committees as a starting point in 1970-71 budget making.

Bill calls for $1.1 billion in general revenue spending, an increase of $170.4 million, but it does not provide for teacher pay raises, new senior colleges and many other high-priority items.

Starting bill calls for $14.9 million for the judiciary; $277.2 million for health, hospitals, special schools and youth institutions; $2.67 billion to executive and administrative departments and agencies of state; $2.63 billion for education; and $16.7 million for the Legislature.

COURTS SPEAK — Federal district court judge here ruled that a college student with a I-S deferment from the draft may finish out his academic year.

State Supreme Court told a San Antonio judge he could not order an insurance company to reveal its auto liability policy limits when involved in a lawsuit.

Supreme Court upheld lower courts rulings that a Vidor youth who promoted an illegal drag race was not entitled to damages for injuries received when he was hit by one of the racers.

Life sentence given a Wichita County man in 1928, for assault, was thrown out by the Court of Criminal Appeals because the man had no lawyer in two prior convictions cited in his trial.

Attorney General Martin obtained a permanent injunction in an Austin district court against an aluminum concern to halt "bait and switch" selling tactics or misrepresenting price cuts.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held constitutional a 1935 law against synthetic milk that includes both vegetable oil and dry milk solids.

Parents in the Edgewood School district in San Antonio brought a federal court suit challenging constitutionality of the tax system under which some school district property owners pay higher taxes than others for the same or inferior educational opportunities.

APPOINTMENTS — Governor

Charles Allen, district attorney in Harrison County, concerning a dry area annexed to wet Marshall.

TEXAS PAVILION AT EXPO '70 — Texas will have a pavilion at Japan's World's Fair, Expo '70 at Osaka, if the Legislature approves a half-million dollar appropriation for expenses.

Texas' interest in the fair is partly a result of Japanese interest in Hemis-Fair '68 at San Antonio. Plans call for a pavilion of about 3,000 square feet at an estimated cost of $504,500. This could include the pavilion, transportation and housing.

Pavilion would be run by a triumvirate of state agencies — Texas Industrial Commission, Texas Department of Agriculture and Texas Tourist Development Agency.

In another opinion, Martin ruled that when a city annexes an area, then holds a local-option election, the annexed area is to abide by the same liquor rules as the rest of the city. Inquiry came from

HEIDENHEIMER'S

As It Looks From Here . . .

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

Several years ago the Supreme Court ruled that the Federal Government has the power to control that to which it contributes.

On this foundation the States and Cities have been nudged along for many years by the carrot and stick method to comply with Federal regulations in connection with Federal aid. Today the delectable carrot has greatly diminished and the stick gets bigger and longer all the time.

In one field after another the lure of "Federal money" becomes overwhelming. Two things make it virtually impossible for local governing bodies to spurn a Federal grant. The first is that sources of tax revenue have dried up. The second is that it becomes politically impossible to refuse it. State and local budgets are heavily dependent upon money channeled out of Washington. In many instances, it would be little short of catastrophic if Federal funds were not involved for support.

The prediction of conservatives in government that "Federal aid means Federal control" has long come to pass. The Highway Beautification Program is a case in point. It was first tried by the voluntary approach. It didn't work. Now it is a condition that States receiving Federal highway grants must institute control over outdoor advertising along interstate routes. Existing signs have to be removed by July 1, 1970. Generally, the same rules apply to junkyards. The same is true with Federal funds for landscaping. At first the States were permitted to use 3 percent of their Federal aid funds for beautification but most put the money to other priority demands. After this, the requirement was made that 3 percent must be devoted to natural beauty to receive funds.

Southern States are feeling the lash in the matter of Federal funds for education. The threat is now to withhold funds from a number of counties in several Southern States, if they fail to comply with desegregation guidelines laid down from Washington. It is largely applicable to those areas which need it most. The same pattern emerges in the many other programs of Federal grants for urban renewal, public housing, public health assistance and in fact all activities in which Federal money is involved.

The official policy has been laid down in this language: "The Federal Government can not and should not require the communities — to cooperate against their will in the solution of their problems." Then comes the catch — "but we can offer incentives . . ." The incentive, of course, is that if local officials do not follow directions, the carrot will be jerked back and the stick held high.

In the beginning controls were more gently applied. There continues to be considerable finesse in directions to the local administration of programs but the time finally comes when the Federal whip is cracked to get compliance.

The use of bloc grants to states to be used under State control is shaping up in Congress. One approach is to send back to the States a proportionate share of the revenues collected from them by the Federal Government. Presumably, this is to get away from Federal controls and certainly it would lessen them. Should such be done, a fight will develop on the formula for grants, should it be on the percentage of taxes collected, on the basis of population, on the basis of need or a combination of all.

A good question to ask at the beginning of such consideration is why collect taxes for this purpose in the first place. Would it not make more sense to release Washington's tax bite and let local and State Governments make their own levy to produce funds for purposes of their own determination.

Federal planners and advocates of "Washington knows best" say no. They say that local people will not tax themselves for benefits due the full population. They contend that local officials are politically impotent to levy and collect taxes for local needs. Therefore, the Federal Government must do it for them, they say. It is the theory that only the Government knows the need and can establish the proper priority.

Thus the line: "Tax and Tax and Spend and Spend." (and maybe — "elect and elect.")

Parks Director Promotes $12 Annual Permit

AUSTIN — The biggest bargain in Texas outdoors is the $12 annual permit to State parks, according to J. R. Singleton, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"With the approach of the outdoor recreation season, Texans will want to take advantage of this package deal," he said. "For $12 per year per car, they can enjoy some of Texas' most beautiful scenery, take advantage of the many free facilities in the park, and have available to them the camping facilities for which there is an extra charge."

Without the annual permit, park visitors must pay $1 per car per day.

The $12 permit will admit the purchaser and occupants of his private vehicle to all out three of Texas' 66 State parks.

Thirty of these parks require a $1 per day entrance fee or the annual permit, and six require a 50 cent per day entrance fee or the annual permit.

At present, 18 State parks are exempt from fees either because personnel aren't at the site, park facilities are not adequate to warrant the charge, present visitation rates make it economically infeasible, or operation of the park is on a concession basis. Duplicate permits for annual permit holders may be purchased for $2.50 each for additional family vehicles.

Entrance fees for Texas' State parks are part of the $75 million bond program for the acquisition and development of parks approved by voters in Nov., 1967. Money from the fees is used to pay off the bonds.

He grew up down in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. When he was 12 years old he was thin and frail and had no coordination. He was slow and weak. He said that when sides were chosen for any game, he was the last one picked. As a freshman in high school he went out for football and made third string tackle. He managed to get in a game once. The other team ran over him enroute to a 65 yard touchdown. That ended his football career. He tried baseball and managed to get to play second base in one game. The batter hit a ball and it went right through his legs. That ended his baseball career. Then he turned to basketball. This young man knew that if he was ever to excel in any sport it had to be basketball.

His sophomore year he went out for basketball. He tried. He tried hard. He gave it everything, all he had. Then came the day when the coach posted the names of those who had made the squad on the bulletin board. His world fell from beneath him when his name wasn't on that list. He was a failure.

He said that for a while he just moped around the house. After a short time he started going to church. He took interest in his church. He sang in the choir, served as an altar boy, and took the collection at Sunday services. His minister, knowing something of his disappointment, took some interest in him. He said his pastor was very understanding. His minister told him about the Galilean, and how He would help him when he was discouraged.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Dentist's Prisoner

To have her new dentures checked, Mrs. R. paid a visit to the dentist. There she got a rude surprise. The dentist locked his office doors, pocketed the key, and demanded that she pay her overdue bill.

After a war of nerves that lasted for half an hour, she finally did pay up. Later, however, she filed suit for false imprisonment.

"But she wasn't imprisoned," the dentist protested in court. "She was free to leave at any time, just by paying me what she owed."

Nevertheless, the dentist was held liable for taking the law into his own hands. The court said he had no right to use such forcible methods to collect his money.

"False imprisonment" may befall you even if you are nowhere near an actual prison. The essence of the matter is an unlawful limitation on your freedom of locomotion. The law places a high value on the right of every individual to go where he pleases. Even if your freedom is limited for only a few moments, you may have grounds for complaint. Thus: A weary housewife, walking home from the market, gratefully accepted a ride offered by the man next door. But to her dismay, he began talking to her in amorous terms. Despite her protests, he kept on driving past her house. Not until a block beyond was she able to get out of the car with some degree of dignity.

When she sued the man for damages, a court ruled she had indeed suffered false imprisonment—although it had lasted only a few moments. The court said she had been forcibly prevented, by the car's continuing movement, from leaving when she wanted to.

Nevertheless, not every interference with your freedom is false imprisonment. Take this situation:

A shopper had just emerged from a department store when a clerk hurried outside after her. Pointing at the purse she was carrying, he asked:

"Did you buy that here?" The woman said no—and then, without being asked, painstakingly exhibited the purse and its contents to the clerk.

Admittedly, this incident did delay her departure. But had she suffered false imprisonment? In a court test, the judge said no. He pointed out that she had lingered on the sidewalk not out of any compulsion by the clerk but of her own free will.

STAMFORD

FROM THE FILES . . .

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
(February 1, 1924)

Mrs. W. A. Albritton, assisted by her daughter, Miss Fay, delightfully entertained a number of the younger social set, Friday evening at her home, complimenting her son, Henry.

The evening was pleasantly spent in contests and various games and a jolly good time was enjoyed by all present. Delicious refreshments, consisting of sandwiches, salad, olives and cocoa was served.

The Blue Bird Bridge Club met on Wednesday of last week, with Mrs. John Yates at the home of Mrs. J. C. Culbertson.

Those present were: Mesdames Mosley, Scales, Berry, Tumlin, Waggoner, Hardy, Low, Bledsoe; Culbertson, Yates, Miss Connely of Jayton.

The American Legion had a jolly good time, last Tuesday evening. All the old vets smiled over the good things we have on program for 1924. So don't miss anything boys, come out next Tuesday night, and bring a buddy.

One of the most progressive and thriving blocks in Hamlin is that one just two blocks north of the Central Avenue paving. There are three modern homes going up on that one block. The first one started is the Hill residence. Just south of the Hill structure on the corner is the W. M. Morrison residence. The third house is that of Jess Young, situated on the northwest corner of the same block.

TWENTY YEARS AGO
(February 4, 1949)

Hamlin's 1949 drive for the fight against infantile paralysis had netted more than $500 prior to Thursday of this week.

Mrs. Bond, chairman of the drive, hopes to raise the total contributions from Hamlin and area for this year to more than $700.

Judge Roger Q. Garrett of Anson was guest speaker at the Tuesday meeting of the Hamlin Lions Club, when he discussed the program for farm-to-market roads in the county.

Members of the Hamlin Chamber of Commerce elected four men to the board of directors in ballots that were counted and tabulated Tuesday afternoon.

The four new directors are R. Y. Barrow, Carl Murrell, W. C. Russell and Travis Hash.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Hamlin Fire Dept. met last Thursday evening with Mrs.

Garland Coltharp, president, in charge.

Those present were Mrs. Coltharp, Mrs. Jack White, Mrs. Sol Branscum, Mrs. Alton Mayfield, Mrs. Bill Thompson, Mrs. Travis Connor, Mrs. J. H. Foster, Mrs. Bryant Connor, Mrs. Ray Kelly and Mrs. H. E. Lawson.

Joining in a nationwide celebration of the founding of Rotary International, the Hamlin Rotary Club program Wednesday at noon featured a program on the principles of the organization.

The program was given by a group of Rotarians from the Abilene club, and speakers included Tom Connally, Tom Eplen, Dean Robert Collins of Hardin-Simmons, and Doc Russey.

TEN YEARS AGO
(February 5, 1959)

Cotton farmers of the Hamlin area and the rest of the Cotton Belt found little optimism in the announcement over the week-end by the Dept. of Agriculture of the new base cotton support rate of 30.40 cents.

Women of the Hamlin First Methodist Church will be hosts Sunday to the district meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild.

Mrs. R. D. Moore was elected president of the Hamlin Woman's Forum in a meeting last Tuesday afternoon at the Harden Memorial Library.

Other officers were elected as follows: Mrs. J. C. Rollis, first vice president; Mrs. E. D. Perrin, second vice president; Mrs. W. A. Casale, recording secretary; Mrs. Dale Lain, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Sol Branscum, treasurer; Mrs. E. M. Wilson, reporter; and Mrs. M. T. York, parliamentarian.

More than $100 was realized by the senior class of Hamlin High School as their portion of revenue from the appearance last Friday evening in the high school auditorium of Merlin, the Hypnotist.

Change in ownership of Lawrence Flowers at Anson was announced there last week by Seth Lawrence Jr. The business has been sold to Mrs. H. W. Madden and Mrs. Billy Joe Wilson of Hamlin.

The new owners have operated the Hamlin Flower Shop the past three years.

Net proceeds from the pancake supper staged last Friday evening by the Hamlin Lions Club will amount to more than $200.

SHE'S MY VALENTINE!

How wonderful young love is. Going steady is the greatest! For the box of candy he brought her, he was rewarded with a hug and a delighted squeal. They're sure of each other. Life is wonderful!

However, steadies break up, lovers part — young hearts are crushed. Life seems ended. It is hard for them to believe it when we tell them that another one will come along to claim their hearts.

Aren't we a lot like youngsters in love in our relationship with God? If things don't go our way, we adolescently feel that God doesn't love us. We blame Him for what our lack of wisdom has brought us. When he doesn't allow us everything we want, our hearts pout.

God would have us know that he loves us with a mature and everlasting love. He loves us as we are, even with all our faults. He stays faithful when we falter. He yearns for us when we turn away from him. He never withdraws. The Psalmist comforts us with this saying: "Thy faithfulness is unto all generations." God is near to all who call upon him. We invite you to come to Church this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Neinda Philosopher Studies Proposed Money-Less System, But Isn't Sure We're Ready for It Yet

Editor's note: The Neinda Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Route One examines a new proposal for the monetary system this week, but doesn't make much headway on it.

Dear editor:

A neighbor of mine came by my house yesterday afternoon and said he'd read that President Nixon has his staff check all the newspapers, digest all the main events, and summarize them for him in a written report each morning, and thereupon handed me a sack full of articles he'd clipped out of his paper for the past few days, "Save you some time," he said. I appreciated it.

Down toward the bottom of the sack I found an article on the money system of the future. According to it, money in the form of coins and bills and even checks will eventually disappear.

"It's a nuisance to have to carry money around with you," it said, and while personally I find it's a bigger nuisance not to have any than it is to be bogged down with it, I continued reading.

In the future, it said, when a housewife gets to the check-out counter at the grocery store, the cashier will total up the bill, then punch a button connected with the bank and ring up the amount there. The electronic machine at the bank then automatically charges her account. No checks written, no paper work involved, everything is done in one simultaneous action. People won't even be paid by check, the article went on. Banks are weighted down with paper work anyway. On pay day the employer just pushes a button that rings up your salary at the bank's electronic machine, and in turn deposits it to your account, less Social Security and Withholding, which the machine automatically transfers to the government's account. In a few seconds, the machine transfers the tax to Washington, where everybody knows it's needed. I have been thinking about this system and it suits me, although there are a few details to work out. For example, it's sure going to take a mess of wires strung from every newspaper vending rack to the bank, and how city people are going to electronically tip a cab driver is a problem Congress will have to study. How to handle a bribe won't be any slouch either.

And if the electricity goes off for any length of time housewives will be backed up from the check-out counter down the aisles and three-fourths of the way around the block, which won't improve the prospects for world peace. I'm not sure we're ready for this system.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Railroads In County Pay $21,607 In Taxes

Current annual taxes paid to the various government agencies by Texas railroads in Jones County totaled $21,607, it is announced by the Texas Railroad Association.

That amount was the county's share of the more than $10,000,000 the railroads paid in Texas on their own right of way and other property.

The biggest railroad contribution was to the school systems throughout the state. Large sums were also distributed to city, villages and county governments and for road and bridge funds.

In addition, of course, was the large total in taxes the railroads' 30,840 Texas employees contributed on their own property. The vast majority of rail workers, many of whom live in Jones County, own their own homes.

"I am delighted that nearly half of the taxes paid by the railroads in Texas go to support the schools," said Walter Caven, general counsel of the Texas Railroad Association. "The future of our country depends to a great extent upon the education of our youth," he said.

"Recognizing this need for education, many of the railroads operating in Texas also make scholarships available to a large number of students every year."
